Locations for New Buildings Outlined

This diagram shows the projected plans for the municipal center development in relation to Judiciary Square. In the center, on either side of John Marshall place, will be the two new municipal buildings, a vista being kept open from Pennsylvania avenue to the old District Court House. At the upper left of District Court is the present Court of Appeals and, at the upper right, the projected new Juvenile Court Building.

The site for the projected new Central Library Building is below C street, west of John Marshall place, while the proposed auditorium would be located east of John Marshall place and south of C street.

BROOKE SLAYING

APPEAL WEIGHED

Life Term Faced by Major.

Sobs as He Hears Verdict in Wife's Death.

BACKGROUND—

Major John R. Brooke, Jr., was placed on trial before Federal jury in Columbus, Ga., after his wife was found bludgeoned to death in their Fort Benning quarters June

8. The 45-year-old infantry school tactician denied charges.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 15.—Major

John R. Brooke, Jr., 45-year-old infantry School tactician, faced life imprisonment in a Federal penitentiary today for his comely wife's brutal slaying.

Brooke broke into sobs as Judge

Bascom Deaver passed sentence last night after a Federal Court jury returned a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree without capital punishment."

The prosecution charged Brooke bludgeoned his wife, 42, to death June 8 and left her body at the foot of stairs in their Fort Benning quarters.

Brooke maintained his innocence and insisted he had never laid hands on his wife in anger.

Brooke's face went pale, then became flushed when the verdict was read. He began to sob. He was led from the room. A few moments later he returned, apparently composed.

He stood at attention as sentence was passed.

"Under the verdict," said the judge,

"I have no discretion in the case, and I must sentence you to imprisonment for life."

Brooke's shoulders sagged and he again sobbed audibly.

Defense Attorney T. Hicks, Fort announced he was undecided whether the case would be appealed. The jury deliberated 10 hours and 30 minutes.

Mrs. Brooke, the major's second wife and a former Army nurse of Fond Du Lac, Wis., was the mother of three children.

CALIFORNIA BANKS

TO BAR '$30' SCRIP

State Association Warns Its

Members They Won't Be Able to Accept Warrants.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—The California Banks' Association warned its member banks today they will not be able to accept as money any warrants that might be issued under the "$30 every Thursday" scheme.

The plan, to be voted upon in the November general election, provides every unemployed person over 50 shall be issued $30 in warrants by the State weekly, the warrants to be returned by proceeds from sale of stamps to be affixed weekly.

"The pieces of paper to be issued under this scheme are not in fact warrants as the term is generally understood and have none of the characteristics which warrants must have, a letter to member banks signed by Laurel Hodges, executive manager of the association, said.

"They are simply pieces of paper giving the person who holds them the privilege of paying a 2-cent tax every week."

Devotion to Duty.

ISANTI, Minn. (AP).—Game Warden

A. C. Hiljus stops at nothing to do his duty, and he has a lot of tired muscles to prove it.

Trailing a game law violation suspect, Hiljus and Warden Ed Stur-devant found him pitching bundles with a threshing crew.

Hiljus grabbed a pitchfork and went to work, while Sturdevant took the suspect, A. H. Buchendahl, into court.

He was fined for shooting ducks out of season, then returned and relieved the weary warden.
